Agricultural and Environmental Education (AEE)

A legacy of agricultural and environmental learning

Since our founding in 1909, Milton Hershey School has trained students to become leaders through hands-on agricultural and environmental education.

From the classroom to the farm

In addition to their core academic work, all MHS students, from pre-K through 12th grade can participate in hands-on learning through our four agricultural education centers: Animal Center, Environmental Center, Horticultural Center, and Ice Cream Center.

Each center provides students with authentic, real-world experiences through classroom instruction, clubs, student work, internships, and co-op programs.

Students learn from experts to gain agricultural and environmental literacy, learn the business side of the agricultural industry, and work to develop real commodities.
